It follows therefore that a man must take advantage of any opportunities that come along, and I have always done that. As long as you are green, you are growing. “The DNA of a business’ growth lies in its conceptualization. If you conceive a small business, it will certainly grow into a mature small business. Small businesses do not grow into big businesses. Big businesses are conceived as big businesses from the outset, even though they too must start small before they grow into their blueprint”.
